SOUTH WOODSTOCK

— Mrs. Olive Davis, Corres. —

Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Andrews entertained their mother, Mrs. Jessie Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. James Kimball and Peter James, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Runyon and John, Mrs. Jackson Andrews and Barbara Best, Christmas Eve. Also, Mrs. Doris Gammon. They were all there Christmas Day except the Runyons, who went to Parsonsfield to join his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Runyon, for the holiday, and Mrs. Doris Gammon, who went to Mr. and Mrs. James Brown's Christmas Day to dine with the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis hoped to be in Brighton with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews and families for Tuesday, barring poor road conditions.

Two rainstorms hit our area last week, Monday and Friday. Some cellars are having trouble with flooding but not seriously bad. We are glad we live on the hill. The ice however was terrific here as it was frozen so hard only creepers could hold when traveling down the hill to the mail box. The Friday's rain washed away the ice and we hope it will be dry directly.

There were two trucks on Route 26 who were having trouble and had to call wreckers to help them back onto the road again, Thursday night. Freezing rainstorm was the culprit for all the trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis played Santa for Franklin Grange shut-ins Thursday morning early. They traveled to West Paris, Milton and Bryant Pond with 10 boxes, arriving home about the time the storm started, 11 a. m. The traveling down the hill grew very treacherous, so we remained in our abode for the next two days.

M. D. C. I. MAKES COMMITMENT TO ENERGY IMPACT PROGRAM

The Maine Department of Commerce and Industry has committed its resources and personnel to a positive program of continuous evaluation and alleviation of the impact of the energy crisis on the State's commercial and industrial enterprises.

To be known as "Project Energy," it will continue as long as shortages of energy are factors in the Maine economic climate.

DCI Commissioner James K. Keefe has decreed top priority for the project which will be focused on shortages and their relation to the economy. In line with the Department's statutory mission the program will concentrate on the problems of commerce and industry rather than consumers, homeowners and individuals.

Project energy has three broad objectives in the following order of priority:

1. To be thoroughly informed of the status of energy supplies, the changes and trends in quantifiable measures that relate to energy consumption, the current and anticipated economic effects of existing and projected shortages, public and private actions and policies at the national, state and local levels.

2. Through coordination with the Bureau of Civil Defense, serve as the primary source for disseminating accurate and detailed information about the energy crisis as it relates to Maine's commerce and industry and the overall economy of the state.

3. Adopt whatever policies, procedures and programs that are necessary to enhance the ability of the Department to provide direct assistance to individual firms in relieving operational problems caused by the energy shortage.

Project Energy will be a Department team effort utilizing a two pronged approach.

The Department's eight district offices using the DCI Ombudsman Program already in force, will maintain day to day contact with commercial and industrial establishments in their respective areas, collecting and funneling to the main office data and developing problems. Thomas Karth, district office coordinator, will be chairman of this phase of the program.

The second phase of the program will be the responsibility of the main office and will consist primarily of correlating and analyzing the data in terms of what needs to be done, available resources to meet existing and developing emergencies and disseminating information requisite to keeping the economic community abreast of the situation. The main office also will be the implementing arm of Project Energy's threefold objectives.

Alvah Lalbo, director of DCI's Research and Analysis Division, and Clifford B. Olson, special assistant to the commissioner, will be co-chairmen for this phase of the program.

The workload in implementing Project Energy will be divided into five categories:

1. "Policy and Liaison," headed by Richard Kelsa, special assistant to the commissioner.

2. "Industry Impact," J. Ernest Bowker, director of the Development Division.

3. "Vacation Travel," Roger N. Woodcock, director of the Promotion Division.

4. "Economic Impact," Dr. Edgar A. Miller, staff economist.

5. "Information," Carl T. Silsby, director of Information Services Division.

Other members of the DCI staff have been assigned to assist the five task force directors.

Also playing a vital role in Project Energy will be the more than 200 Mark Mainers, a volunteer group of Maine's leading business and civic leaders, dedicated to enhancing the State's economic climate. Mark Mainers will aid in the dissemination of accurate information to groups and organizations throughout the state. Their efforts will be coordinated by Raymond Curtis, DCI coordinator of the Mark Maine program.

Commissioner Keefe said that Project Energy will be executed in close cooperation with other state agencies as well as special committees created by Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis to cope with energy problems.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis, Ben and Margaret, Scarborough, spent a few days this week with his mother, Mrs. Stanley Davis. On Christmas day a family gathering was held at the Davis home including Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keniston and their children and Mrs. Stanley Davis and her family. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Davis are expected to arrive next week for a visit.

Have departed for warmer climates where they will not have to worry about keeping warm. However these summer homes continue to be heated, using precious fuel that could be used to keep some Maine families warm this winter.

If there are homes in Lovell that are being heated while no one lives in them, then imagine how many there must be statewide!

I hope that some of our elected officials will take the necessary action to stop this flagrant waste of heating oil. I feel that either ordinances on the local level or laws at the state level could and should be passed to prohibit the heating of unoccupied homes during this crisis.

OF WILLIE C. YATES
Reflections

He stood as straight as an arrow for years and years without end only a few short summers ago his shoulders slumped to bend.

His face was etched with the lines of time. Features chiseled, as if from stone and the eyes that had seen a century pass.

Mirrored wit that was his alone. He was quiet and shy, yet friendly. He was kind to all passers by, gave advice and counsel, if asked for.

Was disdainful of those who would pry. Many a time in the late afternoon when coming back from a walk, I would lean on the rail in front of his place.

And we'd have a friendly talk. We would speak about his logging days. And the winters he spent in the woods.

About cooking, fishing, ponds, and lakes. And the soaring price of goods. We even talked about animals. Deer, coon, possum, and such. Also the porcupine, ground hog and deer.

We discussed the value of property. About buying, improving and selling. We talked about old cellar holes that were once somebody's dwelling.

No knew a little about everything. Did that good and simple man. I am glad he passed among us in accordance with God's plan. No longer will we see him. He won't be standing at the door. The eyes that nearly spanned a century.

Are now closed, forever more. A summer neighbor—Z. J. D.

MORE ONION JUICE

Thanks to all of you who noticed my absence. Nothing serious—just pizza poisoning and excess exhalation over the reconciliation of Liz and Richard Burton. Doctors agree that the only way to finish off anyone my ilk is to drive a frozen pepperoni through the heart on the 32nd of November.

In the past two weeks and for some time before, writers, commentators, prophets and the like have spoken millions of words about gasoline shortages. The whole thing has been hilarious, because no one, no one has actually looked at what the real problem is. The problem with our country is not its leaders, however ineffectual they may be, however farcical their reactions to crises. The problem is the people of the U. S. — not any particular group, class, but all of us. We have been fed the petals of Madison Avenue lotus and we have been living in a euphoria, totally unmindful of the usefulness of restraint, honor, decency, or morality. We have let in to our hearts and homes, "The lust for comfort" who has become the master, and, alas, has made puppets of us. (* The Prophet, by Khalil Gibran).

Even now, when the only necessities of life—food and shelter—are threatened, we continue to iterate the hope that we can go on as before, having all of our creature comforts, only surrendering them grudgingly, partially, one by one, for as long as it is mathematically possible.

Gasoline indeed! Consider that for what it is. The most unessential doodad on the wedding cake in the marriage of foolishness and madness. No one, no one needs gasoline. Everyone needs the wherewithal to provide food and shelter. Stop spending your time and thoughts on how this country is going to provide this least needed commodity, and start wondering how we are going to provide jobs for the millions who will be unemployed because we have already come to the bottom of the oil barrel.

Unemployment will necessarily follow in the wake of power shortages. There is no time to mete out wisely, the remaining resources, and there is no one to turn to who has shown the courage, foresight, or willingness to alter our course. Avarice, which has supplanted common decency among our people, will see to it that groups with powerful voices will perpetuate their own standard of comfort.

The group with the most powerful chorus, however, is all the people. Start now to change the nature of our society. Keep what is sacred—all of our real freedoms, and reinvent them. The most precious among them is the pursuit of happiness, but let's not confuse happiness with total, physical comfort. Stop, by all means, consuming what you don't need. For too long, we have let our self-perpetuating leaders measure the greatness of this country by its Gross National Product. The greatness of this country was at its peak in the beginning when, at long last, there was a place on this planet to which human beings could go to escape the privation and slavery caused by the despot appetites for greatness measured by the gross production of its people.

We have let the genius of this country's advertising industry convince us that our needs were more than they were. We bought and bought more, consumed and consumed more, until we found our way to the condition in which we are now. We have a tiger by the tail. We are consumer-oriented. We let go, the economy will fall on its face. Alas, however, that where it's going anyway, because we have spent the energy required to keep the cat spinning.

Since it is clear that a great change is coming, no matter what course we follow, why not take the logical moral course? Let's stop planning how we are going to share not the doodads, but the cake itself. Let's figure ways in which to share available employment. Let's reexamine job protection plans, and see if we can't find enough to go around. Let's cool it a little. But I love of all that we came to Columbia for—let's not wait until it's too late.

A MISTAKE IS SOMETHING THAT CAN BE CORRECTED

Have you ever made a mistake that was hurtful or unnecessary? It can be corrected by turning to God in prayer.

Mrs. Marian Chase, Corres.

Mrs. Eleanor Bickford, Julie, Martin and Douglas, Sprucehead, are spending the holiday with her mother, Mrs. Louvie Coffin.

Mrs. Esther Wheeler, Hartford, Conn., is visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Renée Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Kotowski, Glen Cove, N. Y., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Inman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hall and family of Millville, N. J., are spending the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Ellingwood.

Gus Stelhorn, Dale and Paul, of Forked River, N. J., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Stelhorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Millett and Andrea, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Belceckis and Paula of Lewiston, Mrs. Lori Small and Linda, Oxford, called on Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buck, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Young, Scotch Plains, N. J., are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Young.

Brownie Scouts met Wednesday at Baptist Church. An investiture service was conducted for new girls, by their leader, Mrs. Gretchen Hutchinson, assisted by Judy Lawrence of the Cadettes. Invested were Tammy Baker, Debbie Hadley, Jennifer Andrews, Maria Hicks. Third grade Brownies were rededicated.

The Daughters of Veterans met at the town hall Wednesday night, with an attendance of 17. After the meeting a nice lunch was served by Mrs. Betty Barker. The table was most attractive with Christmas decorations. There was also a tree and exchange of gifts, and nomination of officers. A good time was enjoyed by all.

The Christmas supper had a good attendance Thursday night in spite of the rainy and slippery night. A nice program was given by the children, with the Sunday School teachers in charge. Neil Littlefield made a very good Santa Claus with a present for each child. Mrs. Charles Hoegele braved the weather and drove down from Newry with her two children and assisted with the supper, which was very much appreciated.

We had special music in church Sunday with Mrs. Vesta Nelson at the piano and Mrs. Bradley Nelson with her accordion. Our pastor, Charles Kent, had his usual nice Christmas sermon for us.

Mrs. Betty Stearns had her two sons and family, with her for dinner Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dudley went to Massachusetts Sunday to be with her daughter and family, over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Grover Sr. have gone to Ohio to visit relatives for a few days.

Lawrence Dacuman has been elected as substitute driver on the R. P. D.

Mrs. Ethel Fries entertained her children and families for breakfast Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Nelson will go to Lovell Tuesday morning to have breakfast with her nephew, Billy Bryan and family. Later they join his daughter, Mrs. Geneva Miller and family for dinner.

Mr. Gustave Yeanna and Albert P. rated the turkey and ham by our store keeper, Charles Hargreave. We all think they are most delicious of him to do this year.

Mrs. Christine Nelson of West Meckford, Mass., spent the holiday at the home of Mrs. Vesta Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Barker entertained her parents for dinner, Tuesday, also Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lawrence.

Mrs. Frances Grant and Mrs. Gladys Riggs visited friends at Ledgewood, West Paris, Friday. They had a very merry party with their friends and family.

Mrs. Joyce Swatt is working for Mrs. Galt in South Paris.

Mrs. Vesta Nelson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Nelson, Mrs. Christine Nelson and Gladys Riggs for dinner Sunday.

Many of the folks here are full of water due to the last rain, and the back roads washed out.

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: There is this boy in college that I like very much, but I'm not sure if he likes me. He goes to college several hundred miles away from here and I do write him and he writes me. But he is always teasing me about being his girlfriend. What should I do? Should I continue writing him?

OUR REPLY: Write to him as a friend. Try to keep your letters newsy and friendly. But don't write to him as if he were your boyfriend. He must like you or he wouldn't tease you about being his girlfriend. If he is several years older than you, he might just consider you a cute little girl that he likes as a friend, and he may just be teasing you in a friendly, "older brother" type way. We think you should write to him, because it is always nice to hear from home, but don't overdo it in your letters. Most students away from home enjoy getting letters - so keep writing to him, but play it cool.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observed one to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY. 40601.

QUICK CHECKER... The first reliable paper money identifier to aid blind business persons has been developed from National Aeronautics and Space Administration technology. The device identifies paper money by its sound "signature." As a bill is passed under the light source, a photo transistor measures changes in the bill's light patterns. Since each denomination of paper money has a different pattern of a different series of tones is given off. Differences are easily identified with practice.

UPTON

Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard LeCompte were guests of his parents for the holiday dinner.

The Williamsons were in the Portland area over the holiday visiting her mother and sister and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lagesse, Simons Lavallee and Wilfred Lavallee were at the Lavallee home during the week end.

The Yarnalls were in town during the week end.

Snowmobiling and skating were enjoyed on the lake this past week end. The ice is reported about one foot thick.

The Bob Charters are in town for awhile.

We were among the majority in the New England area to have a snow cover over Christmas. Temperatures were low and the air was crisp. Wednesday awoke to rain and disappearing snow. The brooks and rivers are high.

Alan Fuller was in town Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Stosser, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Bergeron, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Korhonen and family, were dinner guests at the Bee Hive.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Bernier and family, Mrs. Laughton and Jason, were afternoon callers and the Edward Berniers called from Colorado Springs with holiday greetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bennett were holiday guests of Fred and Mrs. Mae.

The Dendricksons spent the holiday in town enjoying winter sports.

About 15 people gathered at the church Christmas Eve for the annual program under the direction of Betty Bernier. Most of them accepted the invitation to meet here afterwards for coffee and a Christmas Eve Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Murphy and family spent the holidays in North Fryeburg with her parents and sister.

The Claude Lavalles and Camerons are spending a vacation at their camp on Back Street.

The Viers of Manchester were in their camp on Blueberry Hill during the week end.

The U. P. S. truck delivered several packages in town Monday. Many of them were from Florida friends to various townspeople.

AID TO AGED, BLIND, DISABLED

Since during the 192th Legislative session there was virtually no information from the federal government relative to the transfer, it was assumed that Maine would have no expense for these categories after January. Therefore appropriations were made only through December and the Department can barely meet this month's assistance payroll, Wylie said.

Furthermore, there are no funds to meet retroactive payments for those who will apply this month but whose checks would not be included in the January federal payment and will therefore have to be paid by the state retroactively, funds for which will be requested.

More than 22,000 clients will be affected by the transfer to the federal program. Many of these would receive less income than they have now if no action is taken by the legislature to supplement the federal income floor. Especially hard hit would be those in boarding homes and those who live in high rent areas.

When it was realized some six months ago that the transfer would adversely affect recipients in some states, especially the northeast, there was general concern among the states where variations in income allowances were destined to penalize those currently on welfare assistance.

After many weeks of negotiation with the federal government it was at first suggested that states "may" supplement the federal program. However, states seemed reluctant to provide supplements voluntarily necessitating a hard selling point.

MAGALLOWAY & WILSON'S MILLS

Mrs. Bertha West, Corres.—
Rain, rain, rain with water everywhere for people going to work. The road from Errol to Dixville Notch was closed Friday but opened again Saturday morning.

The school had their Christmas Program and exchange of gifts at the Wilson's Mills Town Hall Thursday night.

Mrs. Cecil Bennett Poulin of Buxton, Maine, was brought here for burial in the Wilson's Mills Cemetery, Thursday. She was born in Wilson's Mills, the eldest of Daniel and Lizzie Bean Bennett and lived here until her marriage. She leaves a son, Kenneth, of Buxton, and several nephews in this vicinity.

Robert Balser of Milan came after his grandmother, Bertha West, and took her to Milan, then brought her home. She had the pleasure of visiting with three of her great grandchildren.

to the taxpaying public. Subsequently, the Congress passed a new law making supplementation mandatory for all states whose recipients would receive reduced income under the new federal program.

Penalty for failing to supplement was given real clout by the provision that states refusing to supplement would lose Medicaid funds.

The federal government has given states the option of administering their own supplement, or having "social security" include the state supplement in the federal supplemental security income check.

Since such supplement has to be appropriated by the Legislature, and Maine's cannot be acted upon until the special session opens, the federal government has forwarded the first month's supplement on a loan basis so that Maine's full payment checks will not be held up in January during the first transfer period. Wylie said.

Briefings have been held with the Governor's office, the appropriate committee and the legislative leadership to appraise them of the situation. "But we are sure," says Wylie, that in the majority of legislators the Health and Welfare emergency request for some $5 million for this and next year in the special session will be somewhat of a surprise.

As the last piece of shredded gift wrapping is picked up, and the last picture is taken on the roll of film, it finally becomes a reality—Christmas is over for another year.

The tree stands in partial nakedness, stripped of all of its gaily wrapped packages. Old teddy bears are left sitting on toy chests, and new ones are snugly sleeping in warm beds. The holiday is indeed past, but with us still are happy memories of good times and family gatherings. The "back-side" had its share of family gatherings over the long holiday week end, and one former resident even became the father of a Christmas baby—a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith, Conway, N. H. Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benson had one of the largest family gatherings on Sunday for dinner and a family tree. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benson, Jr., Augusta, and their children, Randy, Robert, Wendy and little Kris, just four weeks old; Mr. and Mrs. Davis Kimball (Sharon), Anita and Chantel, Watford; Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Gardner (Sylvia), Darrin and Eric, Lewiston; and Bradley Benson and Andy, Bethel. Also joining her daughter, Mrs. Sylvia Benson, and family was Mrs. Alice Fox, Bethel. Mrs. Jean Coolidge, Bethel, was on hand to play Santa for the little one, and she also presented Mrs. Benson with her own special fruit cake, a tradition for many years now.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Angevine had all of their family home for Christmas. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bando were here from Massachusetts, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Angevine and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Coolidge also were on hand for the family gathering, as was Mrs. Rena "Grammy" Abbott.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith had a tree for Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Smith, North Conway, N. H., and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith, Conway, N. H., on Christmas Eve. Bruce Smith, Oxford, joined the family on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson and family spent Sunday celebrating Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, Norway, and entertained their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson III, Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Mrs. Thelma Merrill returned to her home last week, with Mr. and Mrs. Ryoza Shimamura and boys. Gerry was very pleased with the sunshine box and sends her thanks to all who thought of her.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Chapman entertained Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapman and Vince, and Sam Chapman and Mary Cummings on Christmas Eve, and for Christmas dinner they had Mr. and Mrs. Alan Chapman, Sarah and Allison, and Tony

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Crooker of Mechanic Falls were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Learned on Saturday. Also calling during the day were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Thurston, Rumford, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hodson of Maryland.

Mrs. Doris Lane is recuperating at her home following surgery at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Dinner guests Christmas Day of Mr. and Mrs. George Learned were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cummings and daughters and Herman Cummings, Turner Center. They were joined for an afternoon Christmas tree by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Learned and family; Mr. and Mrs. George Olson and son of Bethel; Mr. and Mrs. Dana Morgan and baby, Orono.

Stephen Wight, Bradley, visiting his parents, this week.

A family group of 35 met with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wight for an oyster stew supper and tree on Christmas Day.

Mrs. Helen Morton entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Greer and children, Gilead, and Herbert Morton, Amenia, N. Y., on Christmas. Herbert is spending a few days in town.

Howard Averill gave your correspondent four old newspapers to read. The oldest "The Columbian Centinel" was dated Sept. 23, 1796. The print was very close together and if the news was read about the reader would flip. There were no words with "S". The letter "F" was used instead. The paper was published in "Maffachufetts". One ad was as follows: "To be LET—A Tenement, suitable for a small family". Another paper dated Dec. 31, 1830 was the "Christian Advocate and Journal." New York. It would have been a long evening to read the paper, as the print was very fine.

The Maine Farmer dated April 10, 1851, Augusta, was 29" wide. This was a paper dealing with farm work, how to graft trees, and many useful hints for the farmer. A single copy sold for 4 cents; One dollar and seventy-five cents per year if paid in advance; $2.00 if paid within the year or $2.50 if delayed.

INFORMATION PROGRAM ON ALCOHOLISM ON JAN. 9 AT RUMFORD LIBRARY

The Health Information Forum of the Rumford Community Hospital and Auxiliary will present a public information program on alcoholism on Wednesday, Jan. 9, at the Rumford Library Conference Room beginning at 7:30 p. m. Admission is free and the public is invited.

There will be an excellent film shown, entitled "Chalk Talk," followed by a panel discussion on alcoholism. On the panel will be a member of Alcoholics Anonymous and a member of Alanon. The state's regional planning coordinator for alcoholism, Earle J. Simpson, Jr., will be the panel moderator.

According to the American Medical Association and the American Hospital Association, alcoholism is the fourth largest health problem. Only heart disease, cancer, and mental illness are larger health problems. It is estimated that from five million to nine million Americans have the disease.

Most people do not understand that alcoholism is a disease, and the help that is available to those afflicted is not known. Much harm is done to them, their families and society in general. This program is being presented to make people more alert to this problem and the help available.

Special invitations are being extended to members of the helping professions, and other interested groups, so they can have an opportunity to learn more about the problem or to discuss the possibility of special programs at some future date.

beyond a year. This paper also carried an ad for "Ready Made Coffins". "Moses Wells has for sale 109 Birch and Pine Coffins, all sizes. Also he has 16 Mahogany and Black Walnut Coffins. Suitable pillows will be furnished without charge. All may be furnished on short notice."

"The Daily Evening Journal," Lewiston, was dated July 15, 1863. This contained a list of those who were selected from Franklin County for the draft by the "Wheel of Fortune." There were many articles concerning the Civil War. All the ads were for various articles, but never a price. It was listed as "cheap". One hotel in Bath did state the terms as "$1.00 per day, cable connected."

In the "Maine Farmer" there was an article about a fire in Bethel.
